Software developer

Orange Logic is an international software company. We develop a web application called Cortex that manages and licenses large-scale media libraries for multinational organizations across all industry sectors.
Cortex is one of the best DAM (Digital Asset Management) tools on the market today.

We are looking for people who can make a significant individual impact in a team that will challenge you everyday, and a company where you'll have the opportunity to grow professionally (jobs and internships). We are recruiting in both California and France.

JOB BRIEF

As part of a team of developers, you develop our key product : Cortex.

You take ownership of projects entirely. You will be in charge of your own modules: architecture and design, development, integration, live implementation and maintenance.
You are in direct contact with our international customers and assess their needs.
You present ideas for methods and system improvements.

You participate in the ongoing optimization of our methodology, to ensure quick results and quality: you work with agile development and unit testing (eXtreme Programming, Test Driven Development)

There are many interesting projects, meaning no routine. You are able to choose your projects according to your preferences and strengths.

REQUIREMENTS

- You have a passion for new technologies and particularly object languages

- Your programming skills are simply excellent (Java , C ++ and / or C #)

- You have good skills in database architecture (SQL Server)

- You love complex algorithms (and simple solutions)

- You're eager to learn, love intellectual challenges and implementation responsibilities

BENEFITS

- "State-of-the-art" technologies (several 30 inches screens, ergonomic chair and powerful machines)

- An attractive performance-oriented salary

- Work in a great office that is located in one of the most vibrant Mediterranean cities, a 20-minute drive from the sea, Montpellier has 300 days of sun /year.

- Fresh coffee and fresh fruit, lunch vouchers, regular company outings

- Relocation package
